MicroVention Vanpool Program

MicroVention's vanpool program is the largest in Southern California, with over 300 Associates utilizing vanpool services.

When riding together, commuters share the costs. This saves money by reducing fuel expenses, insurance premiums, and wear and tear on personal vehicles. Riders can save up to $6,000 a year or $500 a month.

Because many commuters take turns driving, everyone gets back time in their day. And you can use that time however you like, chatting with coworkers, catching up on emails, or recharging with a power nap.

Sharing a ride to work also helps achieve a more sustainable future. When people commute with vanpool, they can significantly reduce their carbon footprint, the number of cars on the road, and their impact on the earth.
